

Nothing But 'Net – 04/06/2013 – Extra: Live From Atlanta!

Yup, my son (Eric) and I drove down from Milan to Atlanta yesterday, and we're going to the Final Four games this afternoon. I'll be writing my weekly column tomorrow, on a new-to-me laptop that doesn't have Microsoft Word on it (hello, Wordpad!), so if these articles look a little different, that's why.

The buzz down here is that Syracuse is going to end Michigan's run to the title. We'll see. UM has certainly played, and beaten, better teams this year. The big question is: can they keep playing with the intensity and focus that they've shown so far in the NCAA Tournament. Fingers crossed.

Go Blue!